The Enchantress.

The Riasco family has been producing Rum in Colombia for over two decades. They're the only family-run Rum distillery in Colombia, and despite their relatively short history, have managed to produce fantastic Rum which has already been recognized World-wide for its smoothness and seductive nature.

La Hechicera Fine Aged Rum is their only Rum for the time being. It's a blend of Rums aged between 12 and 21 years in their special solera system. In 2014 La Hechicera was awarded the Best Bottle Design by World Whisky Awards, but not to be mistaken, while the bottle design is indeed seductive, it's the Rum inside that has enchanted us. We could drink it All-Niiiight-long. And just so you know, Hechicera means Enchantress in Spanish. Abracadabra, hocus-pocus... now drink!

Tasting Notes

Appearance / Colour

Coppery amber

Smell / Nose

It all starts with coffee beans and vanilla and then gradually advances to menthol, plantains and chocolate

Flavor / Taste

Heavy on cinnamon, espresso like flavour which then mixes with spices like black pepper and chilli and finishes with yumminess of dark chocolate and plum jam

Finish

Extremely smooth and clean finish that will put this Rum on the top of your Rum list
