

This wine is

Cerro do Santo Reserva

is

Douro D.O.P. 2013

Quinta do Pêgo's second wine – and like the first wine it is produced by the South African winemaker Wouter Pienaar.

The wine is produced from Touriga Nacional, Toriga Franca, Tinto Cão, Tinta Roriz and Sousão grapes.

This elegant wine has been aged for approximately 10 months in two years old French oak barrels. Afterwards the wine has been aged in the bottle before being released.

It is a really nice wine with attractive lively ruby red colour. This wine has an intensity of various fruit and berry flavours, well integrated with oak notes. The taste shows good tannin structure and a remarkably elegant soft finish.

This harmonious and wellstructured wine is suitable for beef, veal, red meat, game and cheese.

This is indeed an extraordinary red wine, which is ready to be enjoyed now, but it will also improve with bottle ageing and has a good maturation potential.
